COMPANY OVERVIEW

Grupp Global Partners LLC is a management consultancy with a strategic focus on corporate communications and international public relations serving clients worldwide.

The firm assists in developing high-yield relationships using multiple communications platforms, digital media and technology to engage key influencers. We help clients build communities across geographies and cultures.

GGP integrates a wide range of assets to offer unique solutions for clients. We can execute strategies directly or assemble and lead teams drawn from our broad range of international associates. This flexible structure maximizes resources for clients and minimizes costs.

At GGP, we provide a full range of capabilities, blending these services to meet the specific needs of our clients.

Counsel executives to better integrate communication in decision-making

Create innovative solutions that drive desired behaviors and actions

Direct teams which respond to emerging issues, anywhere in the world, in hours

Empower customers and employees to advocate for your brand and values

Measure the effectiveness of performance and results through real-time analytics

Educate executives by facilitating exchange of industry information and best practices

GGP partnerships and expertise provide our clients with access to the necessary skills and knowledge to realize their goals. Our associates have decades of experience in communication and public relations strategy and practice, and in business diplomacy. We work for a broad spectrum of corporations and organizations in public and private sectors.

The principal and associates of GGP work closely with client leadership to ensure that the mission for each engagement is clearly defined and activities are strategically planned to meet the client's objectives. Our public relations counsel enables clients to grow their brands and organizations in the United States and in markets throughout the world.
